LEGISLATIVE YEAR IN REVIEW

2023 Legislative Year in Review

If you got into a time machine in 2018 and emerged today outside the state Capitol you might be forgiven for wondering if you traveled forward at all. Lawmakers are pushing piecemeal approaches to the housing crisis, concerns about public safety are abound, and wealthy corporations are trying to hamstring cities' ability to fund basic services.

Like in 2018 — and every year since 1898 — the League of California Cities is protecting cities' interests in the Legislature, ballot box, and courts. And this year was a very productive year for cities. Cal Cities supported 51 measures sent to the Governor. He signed 82% of them. Cal Cities opposed 14 measures sent to the Governor. He vetoed 42% of them — far more than his overall veto rate of 14%.

Cal Cities also teamed up with Legislators to sponsor nine bills, five of which were signed by the Governor — a 55% signature rate. And thanks to your advocacy, we're much closer to securing a permanent source of funding to address homelessness and increase the production of affordable housing.

Looming over all this was California's boom-bust economy. No boom was ever bigger than the one we experienced in 2022. The state went from an eye-popping $97.5 billion budget surplus to a $31.5 billion budget deficit. Tax receipts trickled in late this year thanks to back-to-back disasters, meaning the full scope of the deficit is still unknown.

As a result, Gov. Gavin Newsom promised to veto bills without dedicated funding sources. However, lawmakers still introduced over 2,600 measures in the first few months of the session — the most in over a decade. Whenever there's a budget deficit, there's a temptation to rob Peter (cities) to pay Paul (the state). Legislators resisted that urge for the most part, perhaps because of their time in local government. This year's Legislature was not just one of the most diverse: Many new members have ties to local government.

Fighting for cities on many fronts

One of the biggest fights for Cal Cities that kicked off this year is the one to oppose the California Business Roundtable's so-called "Taxpayer Protection and Government Accountability Act." The ballot measure, which will be before voters in November 2024, would significantly restrict the ability of local voters and their elected representatives to pass new revenue measures or modify existing ones for vital local services. Our approach is three-pronged: Do everything we can to defeat this harmful measure in the Legislature, the courts, and through grassroots mobilization.

The fight to stop the California Business Roundtable's ballot measure has the support of the majority of state lawmakers. Their support was on full display this year when they approved ACA 13 \(Ward\). As the final votes were cast in the closing weeks of the session, Cal Cities members mobilized to ensure that lawmakers understood what was at stake with ACA 13. The 2024 ballot measure would level the playing field for ballot measures seeking to increase voter-approval thresholds by requiring the ballot measure to be approved by the same higher voter-approval threshold. Legislators noted that city leaders played a key role in getting the measure passed.

Cal Cities members stood up to protect local fiscal sustainability in other big ways. Members helped stop bills that would have created more red tape for federal grants, enacted a new statewide transient occupancy tax on short-term rentals, and forced costly pension divestments. Two of Cal Cities' highest-profile wins were Gov. Gavin Newsom's vetoes of AB 504 \(Reyes\) and SB 799 \(Portantino\). The two bills would have made strikes more frequent, which would have disrupted or even halted critical public services. It was a message that resonated with Newsom, who cited Cal Cities' arguments in his veto messages. This year also saw the enactment of several laws that will make it easier for cities to fund and complete infrastructure projects: AB 400 \(Rubio\), SB 706 \(Caballero\), and AB 334 \(Rubio\).

Housing and homelessness

The reasons behind California's housing affordability and homelessness crisis are many — high construction costs, limited financing options, income disparity, a small labor force, climate change, conflicting state priorities, and top-down, unproven state policy. While many cities are making good faith attempts to boost housing production, state officials seem content to focus on one issue: local zoning rules.

For the past few years, legislators have introduced a barrage of state-driven, top-down, housing bills. Many of these measures nibble around the edges. The most egregious by-right measures are usually modified or die in committee — thanks in part to Cal Cities' advocacy. This year was no exception.

Notably, the Governor vetoed AB 309 \(Lee\), which would have created a state housing program at the expense of local zoning standards. Several other bills seeking to require cities to approve housing projects by right, with no environmental review or public input, stalled before they received a single hearing. In the end, only a couple of particularly consequential bills made it into law. Most significantly, SB 423 \(Wiener\) will extend a 2017 streamlined permitting law until 2036, give the state new authority over local land use decisions on state-owned or -leased property, and apply the law to some parcels in the coastal zone

Many legislators are realizing that a barrage of constant changes and a limited focus will not get us out of this crisis. This year we saw some modest, but pivotal changes signed into law. For example, AB 50 \(Wood\) will require utility companies to connect new homes and businesses to the electric grid faster.

Others could be much more significant. ACA 1 \(Aguiar-Curry\) will ask voters in Nov. 2024 if they want to finance affordable housing, permanent supportive housing, and important public infrastructure with a 55% voter threshold, just like schools. While not signed into law, Asm. Sharon Quirk-Silva and a bipartisan group of lawmakers endorsed the creation of permanent funding to help cities increase affordable housing and reduce homelessness — a longstanding Cal Cities' priority.

When it comes to homelessness, Cal Cities and the Legislature are broadly aligned. Cal Cities members played a key role in getting SB 326 \(Eggman\) and SB 43 \(Eggman\) signed into law. The two bills will make it easier to provide treatment for people with serious substance use disorders and behavioral health needs. Parts of SB 326, including targeted funding to help cities and counties create new treatment beds and supportive housing, will go on the March 2024 ballot as Proposition 1.

So much more is needed to end homelessness, but this year was a step in the right direction.

Public safety paradox

Policing is at a crossroads in California. Driven in part by the senseless murder of George Floyd in 2020, voters have stepped up their demands for changes to policing practices. This includes holding officers accountable, directing social workers and other professionals to certain emergency calls, and empowering civilian-led police commissions.

On the other hand, more and more Californians are worried about a rise in auto break-ins, retail theft, and illicit fentanyl sales. The latter killed thousands of Californians in the past year alone, which has led to calls for more policing. The public safety crisis is so challenging that several cities have resorted to declaring a state of emergency.

And yet, some of the biggest public safety bills this year met an ignominious end. Asm. Reggie Jones-Sawyer, Assembly Public Safety Committee Chair, single-handedly blocked several bills that would have taken meaningful steps to reduce the number of senseless fentanyl overdose deaths. Like many city leaders, Asm. Jones-Sawyer was worried about a return to the failed war on drugs and over-criminalization.

Although he relented after sustained pressure from Cal Cities and hundreds of city officials and other stakeholders, only a handful of bills made it into law. Ironically, the bills that made it through increased penalties for large-scale drug dealers. The bills that would have increased access to life-saving treatment or diverted offenders away from the criminal justice system were instead vetoed or stalled out completely.

Still, it wasn't all bad news in the world of public safety. Cal Cities' member-driven advocacy also blocked bills that would have reduced the number of tools law enforcement agencies have at their disposal, including police canines, facial recognition software, and encrypted communications. Member advocacy also helped ensure that cities can still prohibit cycling on certain sidewalks and enforce parking violations.

In short, it was a good year

If there was one theme this year it was the importance of city voices. Your advocacy helped secure everything from Brown Act flexibility during proclaimed states of emergencies to the ability of general law cities to adjust council member salaries for inflation — and everything in between.

And of course, Cal Cities' advocacy doesn't stop once a bill becomes law. Cal Cities played a pivotal role in several legal cases — including those related to meritless environmental lawsuits, hypodermic needle exchange programs, mitigation fees, encampments, and the ongoing SB 9 \(Atkins, 2021\) lawsuit. Cal Cities also engaged regulatory agencies on several issues, such as new water conservation rules.

Looking ahead

Next year is the second half of California's two-year legislative cycle and more importantly, an election year. While prognosticating presidential prospects is beyond the scope of this article, some clear trends have already emerged.

First, while Gov. Gavin Newsom isn't running for president, he also is not not running for president. In a blatant attempt to raise his profile, the Governor is debating Republican candidate Ron DeSantis and has taken high-profile trips to Israel and China. His political ambitions — along with that of other progressive lawmakers running for re-election — may translate into resistance to tackling tougher, politically sensitive issues or spending more money. The crowded ballot box will also no doubt put pressure on legislators to get some of these measures removed from the ballot. There are seven measures already qualified for the November ballot and 34 more pending at the Attorney General's office or gathering signatures.

Asm. Robert Rivas — the new Assembly speaker— recently appointed new members to his leadership team. Most notably, long-time Cal Cities supporter and former city council member, Asm. Cecilia Aguiar-Curry was appointed to serve as majority leader, one of the most influential positions in the Legislature. Rivas also elevated former city council members Asm. Blanca Pacheco and Asm. Lori Wilson to chair two significant committees: the Assembly Rules Committee and the Assembly Committee on Transportation. In the other house, Sen. Mike McGuire is set to take over as president pro tempore in the Senate next year.

Lawmakers have also demonstrated a desire to get tough on crime. Rivas told a new retail theft select committee to “act with focus and urgency.”

Beyond that, the Legislature and the Governor have a lot of unfinished business, including the budget deficit. Lawmakers were also unusually quiet on addressing climate change this year and calls for greater accountability for funding to local governments diminished. And of course, many bills that failed to reach Gov. Gavin Newsom's desk, such as a statewide tax on short-term rentals, Brown Act modernization, and more by-right housing approval mandates could be revived.

Still, as 2024 commences, there is much to celebrate. The Golden State has its share of problems, many made worse by geopolitical and macroeconomic conditions. But it has proven time and time again that it can be a beacon of change. Some of the most innovative solutions often start at the local level here in California. With your support and advocacy, we will move onward to a better future for all Californians.

It also allows lower assessments for affordable housing unit owners and provides exceptions for certain types of developments.

Chapter 747, Statutes of 2023

This measure allows local agencies to reserve up to 10% of required affordable housing units for artists, provided that these units are located within or near state-designated or locally designated cultural districts. Chapter 783, Statutes of 2023

This measure will streamline the approval processes for housing development projects of 10 or fewer residential units on urban lots under five acres. It mandates local agencies to consider these projects through a ministerial approval process, eliminating discretionary reviews or hearings. This measure sets specific criteria for projects — including parcel size, density, and zoning — and imposes time limits for local agencies to approve or deny applications. Additionally, it allows local agencies to impose certain zoning and design standards while prohibiting others. This measure excludes single-family residential horsekeeping zones and grants local agencies the discretion to permit urban lot splits and ADUs in such zones.

This measure also revises provisions related to exempt surplus land, adding new categories of exempt land, and requiring document evidence for valid legal restrictions. It clarifies that local agencies are not obligated to dispose of surplus land, specifies actions not considered as negotiating for disposal, and mandates HCD to maintain lists of interested entities. Additionally, it modifies the affordable housing requirements and penalties for violations.

E. Housing Regulations

AB 42 (Ramos) Tiny Homes: Temporary Sleeping Cabins: Fire Sprinkler Requirements.

Chapter 725, Statutes of 2023

This measure prohibits local agencies from requiring fire sprinklers in temporary sleeping cabins on sites with 50 or fewer cabins until January 1, 2027. Temporary sleeping cabins are non-permanent structures intended for housing people experiencing homelessness. Instead of fire sprinklers, this measure requires alternative fire and life safety standards, including smoke alarms, carbon monoxide alarms, and other safety measures.

AB 225 (Grayson) Real Property: Environmental Hazards Booklet.

Chapter 420, Statutes of 2023

This measure requires updates to the Homeowners' Guide to Environmental Hazards to include three new sections on wildfires, climate change, and sea level rise, provided existing or private resources permit. This measure requires developers and local agencies to ensure that housing units granted density bonuses are initially sold and occupied by individuals or families meeting specified income requirements. If eligible buyers are unable to purchase these units within 180 days of being ready for occupancy, nonprofit housing organizations in California —focused on affordable homeownership and holding tax-exempt status — can buy them with certain affordability restrictions in place. This measure also prohibits developers from selling certain units intended for owner-occupancy to ineligible buyers, imposing civil penalties for violations, and extends its applicability to all cities, including charter cities.

This measure mandates that local enforcement agencies must establish policies and procedures for inspecting multi-unit buildings if an inspector or code enforcement officer finds a unit to be substandard or in violation of the State Housing Law. These policies and procedures must consider various factors, require inspections of adjacent units, and, potentially require inspections of all units in the building. Property owners must be notified of violations and required corrective actions, with follow-up inspections to verify compliance. If CSM determines that this bill imposes costs on local agencies, reimbursement shall be provided in accordance with established procedures.

This measure requires sellers of single-family residential properties located within fire hazard severity zones to specify whether the property is in a high or very high fire hazard severity zone in their natural hazard disclosure statement. Chapter 760, Statutes of 2023

This measure grants authority for entities responsible for referring housing units to extremely low-income households, to request approval to lease those units to secondary tenants if a qualified tenant cannot be found within 60 days of the unit's availability. It mandates good faith efforts to match extremely low-income tenants and requires the creation of a standardized petition submission form. Additionally, it authorizes entities to match veterans experiencing homelessness with units based on their income, and after 12 months, ensures the next available comparable unit is offered to qualified tenants at 30% of the median income.

Chapter 767, Statutes of 2023

This measure allows jurisdictions to require owners of residential real properties subject to rent control ordinances or charter provisions, to permit tenants with permanent mobility-related disabilities to move to available comparable or smaller units located on accessible floors within the same property. If certain conditions are met, owners must allow these tenants to retain their existing lease at the same rental rate and terms.

Chapter 290, Statutes of 2023

This measure requires an owner or their family members to occupy a rental property for at least 12 months as their primary residence before evicting a tenant for the intent to occupy the property. Furthermore, this measure establishes new enforcement mechanisms, allowing tenants to seek damages in cases of non-compliance. Additionally, this measure tightens restrictions on rent increases, limiting owners from raising rents beyond a certain threshold and imposing penalties for violations. These provisions take effect on April 1, 2024.

SB 712 (Portantino) Tenancy: Personal Micromobility Devices.

Chapter 630, Statutes of 2023

This measure prohibits landlords from preventing tenants from owning personal micromobility devices and further allows tenants to store and recharge up to one personal micromobility device in their dwelling unit for each person living there. Exceptions are made for disabled occupants who require personal micromobility device accommodations. This measure does not affect the rights and remedies available to disabled persons under federal or state law.

G. Mobile Homes

AB 318 (Addis) Mobilehome Residency Law Protection Act.

Chapter 736, Statutes of 2023

This measure removes the requirement for the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) to select the most severe alleged violations when handling homeowner complaints. It eliminates the obligation for parties to negotiate in good faith to resolve complaints within 25 days. for replacing new parking construction or limiting parking spaces when using state or public funds for development projects, but this does not apply to state-owned land.

AB 1308 (Quirk-Silva) Planning and Zoning Law: Single-family Residences: Parking Requirements.

Chapter 756, Statutes of 2023

This measure prohibits public agencies from increasing the minimum parking requirements for single-family residences during the approval of remodeling, renovation, or additions to such residences, as long as the project does not cause the residence to exceed any maximum size limits set by applicable zoning regulations. This measure clarifies that this provision does not allow local agencies to impose stricter parking restrictions when a single-family residence is on the same lot as an ADU. This measure is deemed a matter of statewide concern and applies to all cities, including charter cities, without requiring state reimbursement for its implementation.

AB 1317 (Carrillo, Wendy) Unbundled Parking.

Chapter 757, Statutes of 2023

This measure requires owners of qualifying residential properties with 16 or more units in specific California counties to unbundle parking costs from rent, allowing tenants to lease parking separately. Tenants of such properties would have a right of first refusal for parking spaces associated with their unit, and the failure to pay parking fees would not result in eviction. This measure exempts certain properties with individual garages, affordable housing, or those receiving specific financial incentives.

I. Care Facilities

AB 426 (Jackson) Unlicensed Residential Foster Care Facilities: Temporary Placement Management.

Failure to do so would prohibit the disposal of the land until compliance is achieved. Additionally, local agencies may provide a statement describing their efforts to correct the violation within 60 days of receiving a notice. HCD must assess these statements and provide determinations within 30 days.

Sellers must also provide a copy of any permits for these alterations, or if they contracted with a third party who holds the permits, they should inform the buyer of how to obtain permit information from that third party. APPENDIX A – ADDITIONAL RESOURCES

The Budget Act of 2023

Background

After two years of unprecedented General Fund revenue growth, California faced a downturn in revenues driven by a declining stock market, high inflation, rising interest rates, and job losses in high-wage sectors — all of which led to slower revenue growth than previously projected. California's tax system relies heavily on personal income taxes from high-income residents, making it extremely vulnerable to stock market downturns.

The Governor and Legislature were forced to confront an approximate $31 billion deficit and cut a deal to balance the budget through a combination of shifts, cuts, delays, revenue increases, and borrowing. The result was the primary budget bill SB 101 (Skinner), as well as a “Budget Bill Jr.” AB 102 (Ting), along with four other bills that amended prior year's budgets AB 100 (Ting), AB 103 (Ting), SB 104 (Skinner), and SB 105 (Skinner). Collectively these six bills, along with dozens of trailer bills, balanced the budget while avoiding new significant ongoing commitments and maintained a record $37.8 billion in total reserves.

Budget Package Overview

Despite a $31 billion deficit, the budget preserves investments in the programs that are essential to millions of Californians. It protects investments in education, health care, climate, public safety, and social service programs. Notable appropriations, delays, and reductions include:

Health Care

Reauthorizes Managed Care Organization (MCO) Tax

- Renews a tax on health insurance plans known as the MCO tax:
 - If approved by the federal government, the tax is expected to generate revenues of $8.2 billion in 2023-24.

Maintains Key Investments

- Maintains more than $10 billion for California Advancing and Innovating Medi-Cal; and
- Maintains over $8 billion for behavioral health care.

Housing and Homelessness

- $67.5 million reduction for the Department of Housing and Community Development (HCD) in the following programs:
 - $50 million General Fund spending reduction for the CalHome Program;
 - $17.5 million General Fund spending reduction for the Downtown Rebound Program;
- Delays $345 million previously allocated to HCD's Foreclosure Intervention Housing Preservation Program;

- Authorizes an increase of $100 million in one-time General Fund spending for HCD’s Multi-Family Housing Program;
- Provides an additional $500 million for the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit Program; and,
- Provides an extra $1 billion in funding for the Homeless Housing, Assistance and Prevention grant program.

Transportation and Infrastructure

Support for Local Transit Agencies

- Provides $5.1 billion for public transit:
 - $4 billion in Transit and Intercity Rail Capital Program funding; and
 - $1.1 billion in zero-emission vehicle transit funding.

Legislation Intended to Expedite Infrastructure Projects

- The overall budget agreement authorizes some types of infrastructure projects, including certain energy, semiconductor and microelectronic, transportation, and water-related projects to receive streamlined judicial review under the California Environmental Quality Act.

Climate

Reductions to Multiyear Climate Change Budget Packages

- The budget makes numerous changes to one-time funding that was agreed to in previous budgets for climate, resources, and environmental programs:
 - Cumulatively this will lower General Fund spending by $8.7 billion across the budget window of 2021-22 through 2023-24.
- While the budget includes less spending than previous budgets initially agreed upon, it maintains most of the overall intended funding for each of the original climate-related packages — approximately $25 billion across the three-year budget window.

Flood Management and Response

- $401 million in one-time funding for flood management and response activities, along with the intent to provide an additional $35 million General Fund in 2024-25.

Public Safety

- Maintains commitments of more than $800 million in multiple programs to improve public safety, including task forces addressing the spread of fentanyl and retail theft; and
- Protects local law enforcement grants totaling $255 million over three years.

Reserves

- The budget sets aside a total of $37.8 billion of reserves, which is made up of the following:

- $22.3 billion in the Budget Stabilization Account or Rainy Day Fund;
- $10.8 billion in the Public School System Stabilizations Account;
- $900 million in the Safety Net Reserve; and
- $2.8 billion in the Special Fund for Economic Uncertainties (the state's discretionary reserve).

State Subventions Update

The budget also provides much-needed clarity for cities around the calculation of state subventions (unrestricted money received by a local agency from the state) and local appropriations limits. Under previous rules, local agencies were required to identify and report any new state subventions that would cause them to exceed local appropriations limits.

Under the new budget, the Department of Finance must calculate the individual subvention amounts for each of the state programs and provide this information to Cal Cities to distribute. This will provide greater clarity and assurances to cities that their local appropriations limit calculations can be relied upon.

Fentanyl Legislation

Background

Fentanyl is a highly potent synthetic opioid that has contributed to a significant increase in opioid overdoses in California. According to the Department of Public Health (DPH), in 2012, California suffered 82 deaths attributed to fentanyl overdoses. In 2021 that number jumped to almost 6,000. Fentanyl deaths also accounted for more than 80% of all drug-related deaths among California's young people in 2021, making it the fastest-growing cause of death for young people in our state. Over 150 Americans die every day from overdoses and poisonings related to synthetic opioids. Most of these young victims ingest the fentanyl accidentally, thinking they are using something less dangerous.

There are two types of fentanyl: pharmaceutical fentanyl and illicitly manufactured fentanyl. However, most recent cases of fentanyl-related overdoses are linked to illicitly manufactured fentanyl, which is distributed through illegal drug markets for its heroin-like effect. It is often added to other drugs because of its extreme potency, which makes drugs cheaper, more powerful, more addictive, and more dangerous. Since there is no official oversight or quality control, these counterfeit pills often contain lethal doses of fentanyl, with none of the promised drugs.

Legitimate fentanyl, also known as pharmaceutical fentanyl, is prescribed by a physician in a variety of forms, including lozenges, nasal sprays, and transdermal patches. While some pharmaceutical fentanyl is diverted, this is typically done on a small scale and often for personal use. Illicitly produced fentanyl is primarily manufactured in laboratories in China and Mexico, and then shipped to the U.S. or smuggled across the U.S.-Mexico border. It is distributed in the form of powder or as counterfeit prescription pills.

Illicitly produced fentanyl is frequently mixed with heroin, often without the knowledge of the purchaser. The Drug Enforcement Administration reports that it is increasingly common for fentanyl to be mixed with adulterants and diluents and sold as heroin, although no heroin is present in the product.

The passage of Proposition 47 in 2014 decriminalized simple drug possession, removing the threat of jail time or drug programming. Trends across the state now illustrate a significant drop in people choosing to go to drug court, in part because of the penalty reduction. According to CalMatters, without the threat of accountability, people have simply stopped showing up. Some regions have shown a reduction in drug court participation by 86% since 2014. Meanwhile, the death rate from fentanyl has continued to rise.

State Master Plan

The State Master Plan has focused on increasing the availability and affordability of naloxone in an effort to reduce opioid overdose deaths. Naloxone is a life-saving medication used to reverse an opioid overdose, including heroin, fentanyl, and prescription opioid medications. Naloxone works by blocking the opioid receptor sites, reversing the toxic effects of the overdose. An appropriate dose of naloxone acts in less than two minutes and completely eliminates all signs of opioid intoxication to reverse an opioid overdose.

There are several state programs that focus on increasing the distribution of this medication. For example, the Department of Health Care Services (DHCS) created the Naloxone Distribution Project to provide free naloxone to organizations — including first responders, police, local governments, community organizations, libraries, and others — to distribute within communities. Anyone can get naloxone from a pharmacy or from a local organization that has a naloxone distribution program. Once in possession of this medication, free training videos are available through the DPH on administering naloxone properly. If naloxone needs to be administered, California's Good Samaritan law protects those giving emergency medical care at the scene of a medical emergency.

In addition to the naloxone program, the State Master Plan also increased the deployment of the California National Guard by 50% from 40 to 60 soldiers in September 2023 to support the interdiction of illicit drugs. This increased deployment builds on the prior expansion in 2022 which led to a 594% increase in seized fentanyl in the state. Last year, CalGuard's efforts helped law enforcement seize 28,725 pounds of fentanyl in California, an amount with an estimated street value of more than $230 million.

Opioid Settlement

The fentanyl epidemic began due to the oversubscribing and use of opioids for pain management. The oversubscription of these drugs led many to become addicted to opioids, which then led to the fentanyl crisis. The original opioid issue caused many jurisdictions to file lawsuits against the manufacturers and distributors of these drugs. California joined several other states and national lawsuits against manufacturers, distributors, and other entities responsible for aiding in the opioid epidemic.

On July 21, 2021, a $26 billion offer to settle was made by opioid manufacturer Janssen Pharmaceuticals and the "big three" distributors — McKesson, AmerisourceBergen, and Cardinal Health — to resolve their liabilities in over 3,000 opioid crisis-related lawsuits nationwide. It is estimated that California will receive approximately $2.05 billion from these agreements through 2038.

On July 9, 2023, five additional settlements were announced. The pharmacies (CVS, Walgreens, and Walmart) and manufacturers (Allergan and Teva Pharmaceuticals) together proposed settling on $17.3 billion to address their roles in the opioid crisis. The agreements with CVS, Walgreens, and Walmart are the first multistate settlements to hold chain pharmacies accountable for their failure to intervene in prescription abuse and drug diversion.

California's allocation from the National Opioid Settlements will be distributed by the National Settlement Administrator as follows:

- 15% allocated to the State of California to use for future opioid remediation activities;
- 70% allocated to participating subdivisions to use for opioid remediating activities; and
- 15% allocated to plaintiff subdivisions to use for future opioid remediation activities and to reimburse past opioid-related expenses.

Cities received funds from these settlements in March and August of 2023.

- List of California Janssen and Distributors Settlement payments \(as of August 2023\)
- List of California Mallinckrodt Bankruptcy payments \(as of March 2023\)

These funds can only be used for specific purposes, which include:

- Provision of matching funds or operating costs for substance use disorder facilities;
- Creating new or expanded substance use disorder (SUD) treatment infrastructure;
- Addressing the needs of communities of color and vulnerable populations that are disproportionately impacted by SUD;
- Diversion of people with SUD from the justice system into treatment, including by providing training and resources to first and early responders, and implementing best practices for outreach, diversion and deflection, employability, restorative justice, and harm reduction;
- Interventions to prevent drug addiction in vulnerable youth; and
- The purchase of naloxone for distribution and efforts to expand access to naloxone for opioid overdose reversals.

For more information and resources see the DHCS website on Opioid Settlement Funds.

Role of Local Governments

Local communities confront the realities of the opioid epidemic each day through the increasing toll on first responders, educators, child welfare agencies, criminal justice, public safety officials, health professionals, and community organizations, among others.

According to the National League of Cities, some of the most promising strategies to combat the substance use crisis in our cities is through combining access to treatment, harm reduction, recovery, and prevention efforts with resources targeted through the effective use of data sharing and focused on evidence-based programs and approaches. In addition, successful coordination of services and collaboration among city, county, and state leaders are key to breaking down silos and stretching scarce resources.

State Budget Allocations

Building on the 2022 Budget Act opioid response investments, the 2023-2024 State Budget Act included an additional $93 million in Opioid Settlement Funds over four years, beginning in 2023-24, to support youth and fentanyl-focused investments for the DHCS and the DPH. This includes:

- Fentanyl Response: $79 million for the Naloxone Distribution Project to increase distribution to first responders, law enforcement, community-based organizations, and county agencies.
- Fentanyl Grants: $10 million for grants to increase local efforts in education, testing, recovery, and support services to implement Chapter 783, Statutes of 2022 (AB 2365).
- Fentanyl Test Strips: $4 million to support innovative approaches to make fentanyl test strips and naloxone more widely available.

Cal Cities Policy and Supported Measures

In 2023, lawmakers introduced numerous bills to combat the fentanyl crisis. In response, the Cal Cities Board adopted a substance use policy in January 2023 to address the fentanyl crisis, which states:

“Cal Cities supports additional funding and resources to address the substance use crisis through appropriate prevention and intervention efforts, educational awareness campaigns, and increased access to life-saving overdose treatment aids such as naloxone.”

This policy resulted in a letter to the Legislature and the Governor asking for a response to the crisis. He noted our support for several measures that had been introduced in the Legislature.

There were numerous bills on the issue of fentanyl that were introduced by the Legislature in January. Most of these measures were held either in the first policy committee or in appropriations. In addition, a few measures were vetoed by the Governor. However, a few key fentanyl bills were ultimately successful in achieving the support of both houses and the Governor’s signature.

Cal Cities supported the following measures that were signed by the Governor:

AB 33 (Bains) Fentanyl Misuse and Overdose Prevention Task Force. Chapter 887, Statutes of 2023 (Urgency)

This measure establishes a Fentanyl Misuse and Overdose Prevention Task Force to bring together critical stakeholders to coordinate an effective response to the fentanyl crisis in our state.

AB 701 (Villapudua) Controlled Substances: Fentanyl. Chapter 540, Statutes of 2023

This measure would add fentanyl to the list of enumerated controlled substances that are eligible for sentence enhancements when a defendant is found with a large quantity in their possession.

AB 1027 (Petrie-Norris) Social Media Platforms: Drug Safety Policies.
Chapter 824, Statutes of 2023

This measure requires social media platforms to disclose their drug safety policies and maintain records of actions that violated a policy and the username of the violating account at issue for 90 days.

AB 1166 (Bains) Liability for Opioid Antagonist Administration.
Chapter 97, Statutes of 2023

This measure provides that a person who, in good faith and not for compensation, renders emergency treatment at the scene of an opioid overdose or suspected opioid overdose by administering an opioid antagonist, is not liable for civil damages resulting from an act or omission. The measure also provides that a person who furnishes an opioid antagonist for use at the scene of an opioid overdose or suspected opioid overdose is not liable for civil damages resulting from an act or omission.

AB 1360 (McCarty) Hope California: Secured Residential Treatment Pilot Program.
Chapter 685, Statutes of 2023

This measure authorizes the counties of Sacramento and Yolo to establish pilot programs to offer secured residential treatment for qualifying individuals suffering from substance use disorders who have been convicted of "drug-motivated" felony crimes.

Chapter 857, Statutes of 2023

This measure establishes a Fentanyl Misuse and Overdose Prevention Task Force to bring together critical stakeholders to coordinate an effective response to the Fentanyl crisis in our state.

Behavioral Health and Homelessness Budget and Legislative Advocacy 2023

Background

California has experienced an alarming spike in homelessness over the past decade, with a significant increase in the number of unsheltered individuals in cities. The most recent federal count shows that California is home to half of all unsheltered people in the country, far surpassing any other state. In response to this crisis, the Legislature and the Governor introduced a suite of bills this year to modernize California's behavioral health care system, with the goal of connecting unsheltered residents to the care they need in their communities.

In 2022, the Cal Cities Board of Directors adopted a new policy that allowed the organization to advocate for better behavioral health services statewide. The Cal Cities 2023 Advocacy Priorities also included securing increased funding and resources to prevent homelessness and assist individuals experiencing homelessness. With this guidance, Cal Cities staff worked collaboratively with the Legislature on advancing a housing and homelessness budget request and several key behavioral health measures this year.

Cal Cities 2023 Budget Request

Cal Cities urged the Legislature and Governor's Office to invest $3 billion in ongoing funding for cities to increase the supply of affordable housing and reduce homelessness. The budget request gained support in the Legislature and from other key stakeholders. It also attracted statewide media attention, which proved instrumental in building momentum.

To inform this budget request, Cal Cities conducted a survey in March, which showed that while cities are accelerating their efforts to prevent and reduce homelessness and boost affordable housing in their communities, the demand for housing and services is outpacing their efforts, straining capacity, and draining resources. Specifically, the survey found that eight in ten cities are spending general fund money to address homelessness, and nearly 90% of cities have fiscal concerns over their ability to provide existing homelessness services long term. Cal Cities staff shared this survey through press conferences, interviews with media, and meetings with lawmakers to make the case for ongoing funding for these critical issues.

In May, Asm. Sharon Quirk-Silva agreed to champion Cal Cities' budget request and called on her colleagues to join her by signing an endorsement letter. Through extensive lobbying efforts across the swing space, a bipartisan group of nearly thirty Assembly Members and Senators agreed to endorse Cal Cities' budget request. These legislators continue to stand with Cal Cities in requesting ongoing funding to address this crisis and will be instrumental in our efforts going forward.

Additionally, Cal Cities joined a broad coalition of local governments, homeless service providers, housing advocates, and business leaders in calling on legislative budget committees to provide ongoing funding to address homelessness. While this group of stakeholders does not always see eye to eye, all stakeholders in this space agreed that ongoing funding paired with reasonable accountability metrics would significantly reduce homelessness in our state.

Yet despite several proposals put forward by the Legislature to increase investments in homelessness this year, the 2023-24 State Budget did not include any new ongoing funding for local governments. Rather, the budget deal maintained a one-time $1 billion investment in the Homeless Housing, Assistance and Prevention (HHAP) Grant Program that was committed previously in the 2022 Budget Act. While this year's budget fell short of including a long-term funding solution, Cal Cities will continue to stand by our calls for ongoing funding into next year.

Accountability for State Homelessness Funding

While Cal Cities advocated for ongoing funding, the Legislature and the Governor were hyper-focused on local government "accountability" for state homelessness funding this year. Their perception was that major state investments in homelessness in recent years had not significantly reduced the number of unhoused individuals statewide.

Cal Cities killed several legislative proposals seeking to create new and onerous requirements for local governments, arguing that without ongoing funding, more onerous accountability measures at the expense of action would not result in long-term, lasting progress. Despite early success, budget trailer bill language, AB 129 (Committee on Budget), did implement several accountability requirements for local governments to access state homelessness funds. The trailer bill included both positive and negative provisions for cities, so Cal Cities did not have a formal position on the measure.

AB 129 (Committee on Budget) Housing.

This measure:

- Requires regionally coordinated homelessness action plans. These plans must coordinate all homelessness funding and services across the region, assign specific roles and responsibilities to each party to the plan, and set forth key actions that each party will take to reduce and prevent homelessness:
 - Each regionally coordinated plan must be memorialized through a Memorandum of Understanding (MOU);
 - Smaller jurisdictions in the region can sign the MOU; and
 - Counties are encouraged to allocate resources from program funding to smaller jurisdictions that participate in and commit to complying with the plan.
- Intends to transfer grant administration responsibilities from the Interagency Council on Homelessness to the Department of Housing and Community Development beginning with the HHAP program in 2023–24; and
- Creates supplemental Homekey grants for HHAP recipients that have compliant housing elements.

Behavioral Health Legislation

Last year, the Governor sponsored historic legislation in the behavioral health space, the Community Assistance, Recovery, and Empowerment (CARE Court) program, which Cal Cities supported. This year was no different. The Governor followed a similar path, sponsoring a two-part legislative package to modernize and reform the Mental Health Services Act (MHSA) for the first time in 20 years and invest billions to increase behavioral health care bed capacity.

Cal Cities supported this two-part legislative package, SB 326 (Eggman) and AB 531 (Irwin), since the start of the year. However, amendments taken to AB 531 just one week before the end of the legislative session generated concerns among cities. Given the last-minute nature of these amendments, Cal Cities could not seek further changes to address these concerns and, therefore, did not seek a signature on AB 531. Sections of AB 531 and SB 326 will appear on the March 2024 primary election ballot as Proposition 1.

SB 326 (Eggman) The Behavioral Health Services Act.

This measure modernizes the MHSA to include treatment for people with substance use disorder and care for the most seriously mentally ill. It also prioritizes investments in housing interventions for individuals experiencing homelessness or at risk of homelessness, by establishing an ongoing funding source for behavioral health beds. Specifically, this measure:

- Expands eligible services to include treatment for substance use disorders (SUD) alone and allows counties to use funds in combination with other state and federal funds to expand SUD services;
- Updates the name of the MHSA to the Behavioral Health Services Act (BHSA);
- Modernizes county allocations (90% of BHSA funds) to require the following priorities and encourages innovation in each area:
 - 30% for Housing Interventions for children and families, youth, adults, and older adults experiencing homelessness or are at risk of homelessness;
 - 35% for Full Service Partnership (FSP) programs; and
 - 35% for Behavioral Health Services and Supports, including early intervention, outreach and engagement, workforce education and training, capital facilities, technological needs, and innovative pilots and projects.
 - A majority (51%) of this amount must be used for early intervention in the early signs of mental illness or substance misuse; and
 - A majority (51%) of these early intervention services and supports must be for people 25 years and younger.
- Allows counties to move up to 7% from one category into another, for a maximum of 14% more added into any one category. This will allow counties to address their different local needs and priorities — based on data and community input;
- Creates new state-led investments (10% of BHSA funds):

Behavioral Health and Homelessness Budget and Legislative Advocacy 2023

- Prevention (4% of total funding) programming on behavioral health and wellness to increase awareness about resources and stop behavioral health problems before they start;
- Workforce (3% of total funding) investments to expand the behavioral health workforce; and
- Statewide oversight and monitoring (3% of total funding) to develop statewide outcomes, conduct oversight of county outcomes, train and provide technical assistance, research and evaluate, and administer programs.
- Invests $20 million for a new Innovation Partnership Fund;
- Replaces the existing MHA funding-specific plan with a new County Integrated Plan for Behavioral Health Services and Outcomes, which includes all local behavioral health funding and services, including Medi-Cal; and
- Establishes a new annual County Behavioral Health Outcomes, Accountability, and Transparency Report to provide public visibility into county results, disparities, spending, and longitudinal impact on homelessness.

AB 531 (Irwin) The Behavioral Health Infrastructure Bond Act of 2023.

This measure authorizes $6.38 billion in general obligation bonds to construct, acquire, and rehabilitate community-based residential care settings. This includes:

- $4.4 billion for community-based clinical care, building on the existing Behavioral Health Continuum Infrastructure Program;
 - $1.5 billion will be put into a specific pot of funding for local governments to apply so that cities, counties, and tribal entities have a guarantee for at least this amount of the bond (they will still be eligible for the rest of the total as well); and
 - $30 million is dedicated to tribal entities.
- $2 billion for permanent supportive housing units in the form of affordable housing with supports, building on the existing Homekey program; and
 - Includes $1.065 billion set aside for veterans' housing; and
 - Housing or facilities funded by the bond are "use by right" if located in a zone where multifamily residential use, office, retail, or parking are a principally permitted use.

Cal Cities also supported several behavioral measures authored by Sen. Eggman. Eggman, a clinical social worker, has led the charge in modernizing California's mental health system over the last few years. SB 43 (Eggman), one of her measures, reached the Governor's desk this year. This measure updates California's 1967 conservatorship law to better reflect the contemporary realities present in our communities, ensuring that individuals at risk of significant harm receive the help they need.

SB 43 (Eggman) Behavioral Health.

This measure modernizes the definition of gravely disabled within the Lanterman Petris-Short Act to include conditions in which individuals experience — as a result of a severe substance use disorder or a co-occurring disorder — an inability to provide for their personal safety or necessary medical care. This measure also provides that opinions offered by expert witnesses about an individual's symptoms or behavior stemming from a mental health or severe substance use disorder are not made inadmissible by the hearsay rule.

Notable Ballot Measures – November 2024

Background

There are two ways for a statewide measure to qualify for the ballot to amend the California Constitution. The first is if the Legislature adopts a Senate or Assembly Constitutional Amendment via a two-thirds vote of both houses. The second way is to collect signatures via the initiative process (i.e., initiative constitutional amendment). The number of valid signatures gathered must be equal to at least one-eighth of a percent of the total votes cast for Governor during the last gubernatorial election. Regardless of the route pursued, voters must approve any proposed constitutional amendment.

The November 2024 ballot will have multiple noteworthy measures that have the potential to significantly impact local governments. Two of these measures were passed by the Legislature. One is being put forward via the initiative process.

ACA 1 (Aguiar-Curry) Local Government Financing: Affordable Housing and Public Infrastructure: Voter Approval.

This measure, subject to voter approval, would allow a city, county, or special district, with 55% voter approval, to incur bonded indebtedness or impose specified special taxes to fund projects for affordable housing, permanent supportive housing, or public infrastructure.

Specifically, the measure authorizes a local government, in the form of general obligation bonds, approved by 55% of voters, to fund the acquisition or lease of real property, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or replacement of public infrastructure, affordable housing, or permanent supportive housing for persons at risk of chronic homelessness. This provision shall apply only if the proposition approved by the voters and resulting in the bonded indebtedness follows specified accountability requirements.

The measure authorizes a local government, with approval by 55% of voters, to impose, extend, or increase a sales and use tax, a transactions and use tax, or a parcel tax to fund the acquisition or lease of real property, construction, reconstruction, rehabilitation, or replacement of public infrastructure, affordable housing, or permanent supportive housing for persons at risk of chronic homelessness. This provision shall only apply if specified accountability requirements are met. The measure also states that a local government may levy a 55% vote ad valorem tax.

Additional provisions of the measure include:

- Limits the number of propositions authorized by the measure a local government can place on the ballot until all funds from a proposition have been committed;
- Authorizes the Legislature, by a two-thirds vote, to enact laws establishing accountability measures in addition to those listed in the measure;

- Specifies that the Legislature may, by majority vote, enact laws for downpayment assistance programs;
- Specifies that a special district, other than a board of education or school district, shall not incur any indebtedness or liability exceeding any applicable statutory limit, as prescribed by the statutes governing the special district as they currently read or may thereafter be amended by the Legislature; and
- Allows the voter approval thresholds to apply to a local measure imposing, extending, or increasing a sales and use tax, transactions and use tax, a parcel tax, or general obligation bonded indebtedness for the purposes specified above, submitted to voters at the same election as ACA 1.

Cal Cities actively supported ACA 1 while it was progressing through the legislative process.

ACA 13 (Ward) Voting Thresholds.

This measure, subject to voter approval, requires any state or local initiative measure to conform with any increased voter threshold that it seeks to impose on future ballot measures. For example, if a measure looks to increase the voter threshold of a specific tax measure from a simple majority (50% +1) to a supermajority (two-thirds), the measure would be required to pass by that same supermajority.

The measure also preserves the right of local governments to place advisory questions on the ballot to ask voters their opinion on the issue, and states that the provisions of this constitutional amendment apply to all statewide initiative measures submitted to voters on or after Jan. 1, 2024.

Cal Cities actively supported ACA 13 while it was progressing through the legislative process.

Taxpayer Protection and Government Accountability Act

This measure, brought forward by the California Business Roundtable, proposes to amend the California Constitution to change how local governments can impose taxes, fees, and other charges.

The measure would make numerous changes to taxes at the local level. First, it would expand the definition of a tax to include some charges that local governments currently regard as fees. The measure would also require all local special taxes to pass by a two-thirds supermajority. Currently, special taxes brought forward via the initiative process are allowed to pass with a simple majority. Additionally, the measure requires local tax measures to identify the type and rate of the tax and the duration of the tax. The measure also requires that local general tax measures must state that the revenue can be used for general purposes. Any local tax measure approved between Jan. 1, 2022, and the effective date of the measure would be void unless it meets the requirements of the measure.

Furthermore, the measure would alter how fees are administered at the local level. Fees would have to be approved by the majority of a local governing body. The measure would restrict the ability of that local governing body to delegate fee changes to administrative entities. For some, if a local governing body wished to impose a new fee or make changes to an existing fee, the measure would require that the charge be both reasonable and reflect the “actual costs” to the local government of providing the service. The measure defines “actual costs” as not exceeding “the minimum amount necessary.”

If a payer of a fee challenged the charge, the local government would bear the burden of providing “clear and convincing” evidence that the fee meets the threshold. Any fee approved between Jan. 1, 2022, and the effective date of this measure would be nullified and deemed a tax unless it fulfills the requirements of the measure.

Finally, the measure would explicitly prohibit an advisory measure from appearing on the same ballot as a local measure that proposes a general tax.

Cal Cities opposes this measure.

10 Tips for Cities Lobbying the California Legislature

1. Become engaged in the state level political process by appointing a legislative liaison within your city to track key legislation and work with your regional public affairs manager. Visit the Cal Cities regional division webpage to locate contact information for your regional public affairs manager.
2. Use Cal Cities as a resource. Visit the Cal Cities advocacy page to access Cal Cities priority bills, city sample support and opposition letters, legislative contacts, and use our online bill search feature to track bills' progress.
3. Read and subscribe to the Cal Cities Advocate, Cal Cities' weekly newsletter, to stay current on important legislation and stories.
4. Develop relationships with your Senate and Assembly representatives as well as their Capitol and district office staff. Make sure to look up who your local state elected official is.
5. Get to know members of your local press and educate them on legislative issues affecting your city.
6. Understand how state decisions impact your city's budget by attending Cal Cities educational conferences, policy committee meetings, and regional division events.
7. Build networks and collaborate with other stakeholders in your community, including non-profits, businesses, and your county counterparts on key legislative issues.
8. Organize an internal process within your city for developing and proposing changes to both state and federal laws that will help your city.
9. Adopt local policies on legislation that enable your city to react quickly to the legislative process and respond to Cal Cities action alerts.
10. Write letters on legislation featured in the Cal Cities Advocate. City sample support and opposition letters can be found using the Cal Cities bill search feature and entering the bill number or bill author.

Effective Letter Writing Techniques

- 1. Include the bill number, title, and your position in the subject line. Never bury the bill number and the action you want the legislator to take in the body of the letter.
- 2. One bill per letter. Legislators file letters according to the bill number.
- 3. State the facts. Describe the impact the bill would have on your city. Use “real world” facts; legislators like to know how a bill would specifically affect cities in their districts. Cal Cities often provides a sample letter that includes space to describe local impacts. Take the time to provide such examples. This part of the letter is the most valuable to the legislator.
- 4. Think about the message. Letters may be targeted to specific legislators or entire committees. Think about who you want to act on the bill and message accordingly. If you are writing in support of transportation funding, emphasizing how the project will reduce greenhouse gases might be important to one legislator, while highlighting how the project could encourage additional development and jobs might be important to another. Both messages are correct, but your effectiveness will be in selecting the right message.
- 5. Check for amendments. Always check the Cal Cities bill search page to make sure you are addressing issues in the latest draft. Bills are often significantly amended and the issue you are writing about may have changed or have been deleted altogether by the time you send your letter.
- 6. Send follow-up letters to the appropriate legislative committees as a bill moves along. You can often use your original letter with some modifications. Visit the Cal Cities bill search webpage to track the bill’s location. In addition, the Cal Cities Advocate features stories on key legislation.
- 7. Provide a contact. At the close of the letter, provide a contact person in case there are questions about the city’s position.
- 8. Know the committees on which your legislator serves. A legislator is likely to pay more attention to the bill positions of their constituents especially when it comes before his or her committee. At the committee level, this is even more important because your legislator has greater ability at this point in the legislative process to have the bill amended.
- 9. Copy the right people. Email a copy of the letter to your local state senator, assembly member, your Cal Cities regional public affairs manager, and Cal Cities.
- 10. Submit your letter to the California legislature position letter portal. The portal automatically sends letters to the author’s office and the committee(s) of jurisdiction. Please visit the legislative portal to create an account and upload the letter.
