Good Governance is About...
Governance Requires Building Relationships Through:

- Effective leadership by the Mayor and City Council
- Responsive management and leadership by the City Manager
- Meaningful communication: honest, direct, respectful, proactive
- Understanding roles and fulfilling expectations
- Fostering mutual respect and building trust
- Ethics
Attributes of High Performing Councils

- True partnership between Members, City Manager and staff
- Clarity and respect for roles and responsibilities
- Civility and respect for all
- Conduct effective meetings
- Hold each other and City Manager accountable
- Practice continuous learning
Elements of Successful Council/Manager Relationships

- Mayor, councilmembers and city manager develop a sense of team, working together in furtherance of common purpose
- The team values diversity of leadership style and perspective
- Clear and mutual understanding of respective roles, responsibilities and stated expectations
- Develop and sustain effective communication between the chief executive and governing board
- Trust is a crucial characteristic in any successful relationship and communication is essential for fostering trust
Your soft skills are your hard skills
It’s All About Communication

- Make time for council/manager conversations and meetings
- Clearly define communication expectations
- Communicate consistently and equitably
- Baseline information provided to all
- Clear guidelines for council/staff communications
Final Thoughts on Communication

- Delivering “bad news”
- Reestablishing communication expectations whenever the council changes
- Poor communication often cited as cause of city council dissatisfaction with city managers
- Effective Communication = Trust

Trust = A Successful Relationship
Mayor and Council hold the city manager accountable for achieving Council goals, priorities, and implementing directives.

Governing Board provides direction to the city manager; and he/she directs staff - simple chain of command.

Crossing the line when you direct staff to work on individual projects or priorities.

Avoid public criticism of the city manager or staff - discuss your concerns privately. Fix the issue, not blame.
Mayor’s Role in Leading the Team

Councilmembers meet with the Mayor routinely to discuss ideas or concerns.

The Mayor works closely with the city manager to move council goals forward, anticipate issues on the horizon, and manage the action at council meetings.

All of this works most effectively if the Mayor understands council concerns and shares this feedback with the city manager.
Councilmembers Should

- Meet routinely with the City Manager to establish a close working relationship
- Understand that the City Manager can be your greatest asset in reaching your goals
- Ask the Manager, not staff, when you want to get things done (it’s about accountability)
Successful Council/Manager Relations Delivers Positive Results

- Mutual success and fulfillment
- Organizational effectiveness
- Positive staff morale
- Heightened accountability
- Enhanced community confidence
- Successful community outcomes
